

ABSTRACT

Nadianto(11.01.111.00125) . 2016. The Analysis of Constitutional Court Decision No. 14 / PUU-XI / 2013 about Simultaneously Election is Looked from Legal Political Electon. Undergraduate Thesis, Legal Studies Department, Faculty of Law, Trunojoyo University of Madura. Advisor: Dr. Nurus Zaman., S.H., M.H.

All this time the legislative election (DPR, DPD, DPRD) and the executive election (President and Vice President) are implemented separately as stipulated in Law No. 42 of 2008 on General Election of President and Vice President and Law No. 8 of 2012 on General Election of DPR, DPD and DPRD.

The Decision of Constitutional Court No. 14 / PUU-XI / 2013, it has been decided that a separate election administration between the legislative and the executive is contrary with (UUD 1945). In addition, a separate election administration wasting the budget election funds, and it doesn't strengthen the presidential system. So that, it's necessary to affirmed the legal basis of the system of election administration, and the legal consequences that arise after the Constitutional Court ruling.

The Decision of the Constitutional Court are final and binding in particular relating to the election simultaneously as a new paradigm in organizing election in Indonesia. The Analysis of the Constitutional Court decision on simultaneous election in terms of legal political election simultaneously as strengthening the presidential system. In addition, the decision as a source of political builders in drafting electoral laws simultaneous national election that will be conducted by both of the government and the institutions of Parliament.

Keywords: The Decision of the Constitutional Court, The Legal Political Election, and The Election Simultaneously