

ABSTRACT

Iskandar, Moh. 15.05.111.00013. An Analysis of Intrinsic Elements in Celeste Ng's Little Fires Everywhere. Thesis. English Study Program of Faculty of Social and Cultural Sciences, University of Trunojoyo Madura. Advisor: Erika Citra Sari Hartanto, S.S., M.Hum.

This study focuses on the analysis on Celeste Ng's Little Fires Everywhere. It discusses one research issues. It is what are the intrinsic elements in the novel "Little Fires Everywhere" by Celeste Ng.E. The aim of this research is to find out the intrinsic element and how the intrinsic element describes the character and characterizations, plot, setting, theme and point of view in Little Fire Everywhere novel.

This thesis uses qualitative analysis method to analyze the data because the writer uses descriptive analysis in process. Firstly, the writer begins to read the object, and then select the data, classified the data based on the character, analyze of data and the last, the writer takes a conclusion.

The finding of this research shows that the main characters Elena Richardson and Mia Warren. Who has different background life and story of their life. Such as High class and low class. The second is analyzing of plot, it contains by exposition, complication, climax, falling action and resolution. The setting in United States which is like little town with little rental house For example, the first how to write the right address because every house include two families.

Key words: Intrinsic Element, Character and Characterization, Plot, Setting and Point of View.