

ABSTRACT

In this Islamic boarding school, Islamic religious knowledge is taught to students, this learning uses various books, Arabic, etc. Apart from studying books at this Islamic boarding school, there is also formal learning so it could be said that this Islamic boarding school is a modern Islamic boarding school. Economic empowerment is a series of activities to improve the quality or empowerment of weak groups (their economic conditions) in society. Therefore, to increase economic stability in educational institutions, a pattern of economic independence through entrepreneurial education is required. In this way, the Darull Ullulm Az Zaini Sampang Islamic boarding school has launched its own Islamic boarding school product, namely the Helrbal Coffee product, where this herbal coffee is very good for the health and mental health of humans. So that the help of the residents of the Telrselbult boarding school was helped to market Telrselbult's products. This type of research uses a qualitative method, where this method uses 3 techniques, namely interviewing, observation and documentation techniques. The ultimate goal of improving research itself is implementing descriptive analysis. Apart from that, with a collaborative approach between the researcher and the educational institution, there will be a positive influence as well as the creation of solution ideas that will ultimately develop the independence of the Islamic boarding school economy. The results of this research are that the product under study can still be said to be new and there are several obstacles resulting in the Nusantara Herbal Coffee product having to be further managed, including in terms of manufacturing tools, marketing and lack of human resources. There is collaboration with the management and students at the Islamic boarding school so that it can be better known to the wider community. For future evaluation, the management of Kopi Herbal Nusantara must be able to further perfect the product and must be halal certified so that it can be known to the wider public.
