

ABSTRACT

Indonesia is a country rich in resources lamnya dayaa. The abundance of natural resources owned by Indonesia used in a way that is manageable mined. Peratambangan in Indonesia itself started since Dutch colonial rule and Japanese. The invaders are very interested in the natural resources of Indonesia are abundant. Indonesian foreign eyes is very meaningful, hence not a few foreigners who want to visit the island nusantaraini. Interest in other countries against Indonesia's natural resources are abundant into separate points by the Indonesian nation, this is due to lack of human resources support. Weak human resources for dispensing the abundant natural resources in Indonesia requires another State. Indonesia needs to foreign countries began the new order

In this study the authors wanted to know how the liability of the Republic of Indonesia in accordance with the principles of international law on the impact of the work contract of PT. Freeport in Papua? And can this work contract can be canceled ataut idak? To know that the author uses the study of law. The approach used to obtain legal material is approach used approach to legislation (statue approach). Legal materials are used, primary, secondary, dantesier, analysis of legal materials made deductively.

Draw conclusions from the general kekhusus by analyzing the legislation relating to the problems then correlated against some of the principles, theories and principles to serve as a foundation for analyzing the formulation of the problem in this study. Thus, in this study can produce a solution, as well as the conclusion of an ideal conception of matters relating to the responsibilities of the State Thus, the authors were able to deduce the results of this study indicate that the Indonesian government should cancel the welfare of its people and the work contract between PT. Freeport and Indonesia