

ABSTRACT

Dwi Budi Haryanto, M. 11.05.111.00075. A Study Of Reduplication In Pakem Maddhu Magazine. Thesis. English Study Program, Social and Cultural Sciences Faculty, University of Trunojoyo Madura. Advisor: Iqbal Nurul Azhar, S.S., M.Hum.

This study entitled “A Study of Reduplication in Pakem Maddhu Magazine”. This study is on Morphology scope which focuses on the theory of reduplication proposed by William D. Davis in his book entitled A Grammar of Madurese. The aims of this study are to find out the types of reduplication and to find out the functions of reduplication in Madurese words found in Pakem Maddhu magazine.

Since this study describes reduplication as phenomena in Madurese language. The writer took the data from Pakem Maddhu magazine 39th edition published on July 2014. In collecting the data, the writer used content analysis since the data found in the magazine are in the form of word in written text. Furthermore, in analyzing the data, the writer used Interactive Model Analysis proposed by Miles and Huberman.

Based on the analysis, it is found that 30 data include in all types of reduplication in Madurese language. Based on 30 data; 11 data belong to compound word reduplication, 10 data belong to whole word reduplication, 2 data belong to Ca reduplication, 1 data belong to initial syllable reduplication, and 6 data belong to reduplication with other affixes. The last the writer explained about the functions of reduplication in Madurese. There are four functions of reduplication; to reduplicate verb, to reduplicate noun, to reduplicate temporal expression and to reduplicate adjective.

Keywords : The Types of Reduplication in Madurese, Functions of Reduplication.