ABSTRACT

This study aims to develop Ritatoon Dewi Sekardadu learning media for narrative writing instruction for fifth-grade elementary school students, examining (1) the validity of the local wisdom-based Ritatoon media, (2) the effectiveness of the local wisdom-based Ritatoon media, and (3) the attractiveness of the local wisdom-based Ritatoon media. This research is a type of RnD (Research and Development) research. The model used is the ADDIE model which consists of 5 stages: analysis, design, development, implementation, and evaluation. The subjects in this study consisted of 2 test groups, namely a limited trial with 4 fifth grade elementary school students and a extensive test with 24 fifth grade elementary school students at SDN Buduran. Data collection was conducted through interviews, observations, questionnaires, and student test sheets. Data analysis was conducted in accordance with 3 aspects including validity, effectiveness, and attractiveness. Based on expert assessment, the validity of the media developed in each aspect, namely media, material, learning design, and language, was 90%; 90%; 92.5%; and 90% respectively with a very valid category. The effectiveness of the media, based on observations of teacher activity in the extensive test, was 91.6%. The results of observations of student activity in the extensive test were 86.4%. The student completion rate was 100%. The media's appeal was determined by the teacher response questionnaire results in the extensive test, which was 95%, and the student response questionnaire, which was 90.8%, categorized as very interesting. Based on these results, the illustrated story calendar media based on local wisdom is suitable for use in Indonesian Language Education learning for Grade V at SDN Buduran on narrative writing.
