

ABSTRACT

PROTECTION OF MALAYSIANS FEMALE MIGRANT WORKERS AGAINST HUMAN TRAFFICKING.

The Reasons many Indonesians became Indonesia Migrant worker is there are several factors that encourage people to become Migrant workers, namely poverty factors, people think that becoming migrant workers can break the chain of poverty, The problem sequence this thesis is the first is how legal protection efforts are made for female migrant workers who work in Malaysia against acts of Human Trafficking then , The second is how the responsibility of the Indonesian government provides to migrant workers against victims of Human Trafficking Based on The process of writing this thesis using normative research methods and using the legal approach methods , invite Referring results of discussions that legal protections for Indonesians Female Migrant Workers who work in Malaysia is based on the provisions Of Law Number 18 of 2017 concerning the Protection of Indonesian Migrant Workers , Law Numbers 21 of 2007 concerning The Crime Of Human Trafficking , and Laws Law Number 37 of 1999 concerning Foreign Relations , as well as the MOU that has been approved by the Governments of Indonesia and Malaysia to be given accountability and protection of Indonesians Female Migrants Workers , and the governments must increase the accountability that has been provided both state responsibility , criminal liability , and civil liability.

Keywords :Protections , Migrant Workers , Human Trafficking