ABSTRACT

Vito Abi Pranata. 220521100059, Sociology Study Program, Department of Social and Cultural Sciences, Trunojoyo University Madura. "The Meaning of Rescuers' Social Actions in Responding Rapidly to Emergency Conditions During Mount Penanggungan Climbing Evacuations

Purpose of this study is to determine the meaning of rescuers' social actions in responding quickly to emergency conditions during climber evacuations on Mount Penanggungan based on Max Weber's theory of social action.

Methods used in this study were qualitative methods with data collection techniques including observation, interviews, and documentation. Informants were selected using purposive sampling. Data were analyzed using the Miles and Huberman technique, while data validity was examined through source and method triangulation.

Result of the study indicate that rescuers' social actions in responding to emergency situations are based on rational considerations, humanitarian values, empathy, and rescue experience. The quick response demonstrated by rescuers plays an important role in ensuring climbers' safety during the evacuation process.
