

ABSTRACT

Siti Nurmaya. 14.05. 411. 00003. Psychology Study Program, Faculty of Social and Cultural Sciences, University of Trunojoyo Madura. 2018. Competitive Behavior of Firework-makers at X village, Probolinggo, Frontpage xvii +168 Appendixes

This research aims to examine the description of competitive behavior in firework makers at X village, probolinggo. This research uses descriptive qualitative, combining with case study approach. The method of collecting data used semi-structured interview. The subject chosen by using purposive sampling criteria method. The analyzing data used miles and huberman's technique. The technique for checking the validity of the data used triangulation. Thw results of the research show that how the competitive behavior is done by the firework-makers. The villagers of the X village always attempt to be part of the competition and be a winner in that firework competition. Furthermore, the firework-makers also make firework with kinds of model and has loud sound to defeat the other competitors. Finally, the firework-makers also attempt to win the competition and do not think about any obstacles which can make them fail to win in the competition indeed, they will even sell or just mortagage their precious things to join the competition.

Keywords : Competitive Behavior, fireworks makers at Probolinggo
Bibliolighrapy : 23 (1984-2017)